

Hi, friend!

You may like or dislike the latest Metallica album '72 Seasons'. Some say it's boring, especially for bass... But I've transcribed it anyway! And you've got an early access to all the 12 tabs, as well as Rob Trujillo's isolated bass.

Yes, '72 Seasons' ain't a goldmine of cool bass stuff like, say, 'Master of Puppets' and even 'Death Magnetic'. At times you can even feel when I got bored and almost annoyed transcribing it (the text notes over the tabs are to help). Rob didn't use his full power on the record - but did he have to? Whatever he could have and was allowed to add there, he has.

The bass tone on 'Seasons' is much more prominent than on 'Hardwired', that's why software was able to separate it so well, and my ear and fingers turned into that the tabs. Wonder how many actually cared for these tabs, but hey - the hours are already out into them and that's still the fkn band XD

Click the link below for the tabs and isolated tracks. Next up - entire 'Hardwired' LP tabbed (and then, if all's well, we go the way down Metallica discography). Stay tuned and enjoy playing!

Andriy

<https://basstabs.org/metallica-72-season-full-album-bass-tabs/>

(If you don't want to receive new updates like this anymore, you can unsubscribe by clicking here. Sorry for bothering)